Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
We will continue to see winter-like conditions on the tops.

Forecast for Monday 03 May 2021
Weather: Dry start to the day but soon becoming cloudy with outbreaks of rain and hil snow, this becoming heabier and more persistent from mid morning. Snow above about 600-700m during the afternoon and evening, especially across the Argyll hills and the Trossachs, even Goat Fell, with blizzards possibly developing above 900m. Feeling bitterly cold on the tops thanks to the strengthening winds.

Maximum wind: Strengthening southeasterly winds, average speeds on the tops of 25mph increasing 35mph in the afternoon with gusts 50mph.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 80% reducing to 20% in the afternoon, best towards Lochaber.

Visibility: Very good at first with clouds well up the hills. Visibility becoming poor in showers and more persistent precipitation with clouds becoming extensive about 600 to 700m.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 4 rising to 7 Celsius.
At 800m: Zero Celsius.
Freezing level: 800m.
